All good things come in threes – and thus the Think Campus in Potsdam is expanding with another exciting project. After Workhub I and II, ThinkCampus III is now being developed as the final addition to the innovation hub. Three distinct buildings form the ensemble: varied in materials and shapes, yet all harmoniously integrated into the picturesque landscape. Lush green facades emphasize a respectful relationship with nature. Each building serves its own unique purpose: to the south, a modern three-stream high school is being constructed, complemented by a spacious street-side sports hall. Further north, there will be a contemporary structure featuring office space with flexible use and creative workspaces. The connecting element is the transparent ground floors, which, with their inviting forecourts and vibrant green courtyards, foster meaningful interactions and seamlessly weave ThinkCampus III into its beautiful surroundings.
